

We are stardust. We are golden. And we've got to get ourselves back to the garden.

— Joni Mitchell

Our master teacher Ramtha has always encouraged us (when ready) to move into the “village” as we read that Jesus did in Nine Faces of Christ. Whether I was ready is highly debatable, but I moved anyway — children, my grandchildren, and the FUTURE generations seemed to demand my action.

Living in a tent in the cold among many homeless (victims of the Illuminati plan of debt slavery), rebellious young students and old 60s anarchists and seriously addicted and ill fellow humans was the first part of my experience with Occupy Olympia. Organizing the camp, keeping people safe (usually from themselves, their own anger), and building an “army” was no easy task. The General Assemblies (GA) brought everyone together and a true “Republic of One For All and All For One” was created at Heritage Park camp. Early on, there were three positive outcomes: First, the visibility of the encampment brought the injustice and inequality of our banking system into question by the general public and discussions began. Second, the seriousness of the homelessness problem here in Thurston County was addressed due to their collecting en masse at the camp. Third, many chronic homeless felt love, hope, and a sense of purpose for the first time in their lives!

Just before our beautifully planned Christmas celebration in December, the encampment was taken down forcefully. The possibility of creating another encampment was out of the question, so a few of us decided to respond with a greater, more populous social movement, and the idea of an Occupy Solidarity Social Forum was birthed. I used Ramtha’s teaching of how Nature dreams the blossoms of the spring in the quiet of winter as the model. The OSSF here in Olympia would provide the winter dreaming state for the American Occupy movement to plan its spring events/blossoms. Everything I wanted — every participant, speaker, venue — every detail manifested perfectly and MORE. Since the idea was lofty and noble, the Universe responded quickly and completely. I was in a state of JOY throughout the whole time, which is very important to the manifesting process as Ramtha has so beautifully stated to us numerous times and in numerous ways. I BECAME a little child again, full of love and joy. As long as I moved forward in love and joy, my light shown. When little doubts came forth, the light dimmed and so did the speed and quality of the manifestation.

I encourage everyone to be involved with the Occupy movement. It is becoming the Beloved Community envisioned by Martin Luther King and sung about by John Lennon in his song Imagine. Come into the “villages” and let YOUR LIGHTS SHINE. Make yourself and your teacher proud. We meet in Sylvester Park Sundays at 1 p.m.

All my love,
Mary Hath Spokane, student of Ramtha
